

INDIVIDUAL ASSIGNMENT

“Managers hate millennials in the workplace.”

Read at least ten recent accredited articles in peer-reviewed journals dated not older than 2015 regarding the millennial generation. Using your critical analytical skills and provide a synopsis of the findings and views of expert researchers about the millennial generation in the workplace.

1. Write a critical reaction/response assignment of 6-10 to pages summarising and analysing the literature.
2. Respond to at least seven issues that you have identified and that you have experienced with Millennials at your workplace. As an example some of these topics that you will find in the literature include living with parents; economics; politics; religion; marriage; social issues (same-sex marriage, legalization of marijuana); creating social networks; racial and ethnic mix of millennials; predicting millennials' behaviour as they age; and narcissism of Millennials).
3. Are your experiences confirmed by the literature or research findings and do you agree or disagree with the stereotypes and research conclusions mentioned in the articles? Do you think they are valid, true and applicable?
4. Based on what you have learned from the research and your own work experience recommend some strategies that you will implement to manage millennials in your workplace more effectively.
